

SAFETY POLICY

Shoal Air considers safety as the most critical factor in the provision of services to its customers, and in its relationship with employees and third parties/contractors.

Shoal Air has a robust policy of actively managing and promoting safety as part of all operations, both on the ground and in the air.

To support this policy Shoal Air adopts the following principles:

- Safety is a primary management priority and responsibility.
- Safety and the management of risk is part of everyday activity.
- Support for a culture where all employees, contractors, clients/passengers and third parties feel free to report safety breaches without fear of retribution.
- A shared responsibility where personal behaviour is fundamental to the achievement of our safety outcomes.
- Dangerous or foolhardy behaviour is unacceptable.
- Involvement and empowerment of all staff in development of solutions that reduce or eliminate unsafe conditions and practices.
- Investigation of hazards or occurrences to determine root causes and corrective actions required.
- Preparedness to adopt change as might be required to enhance safety.
- Open communication of safety information.

This Policy applies to all staff, contractors and visitors associated with activities supporting or collaborating with Shoal Air.

Shoal Air aims to be a safe and sustainable airline.

Help us to keep it that way by reporting any safety concerns !!

Chief Pilot:

Timothy Chirgwin

Safety Manager:

Simon Anderson

Managing Director:

Steve Irvine

General Manager:

Damien Onofaro

Marketing Director:

Rosie Sandover